Rep. Marino Votes on Spending Cuts, Housing, NPR

Rep. Marino recently cast important votes regarding the funding of National Public Radio, an ineffective federal government loan program and a continuing resolution.

Marino joined his colleagues in the House in passing H.R. 836. The bill eliminates the ineffective $1 billion Emergency Homeowner Relief Program.

"Though this program may have been created with the best intentions, it has proven to be yet another ineffective government program and an inefficient use of taxpayer dollars," Marino said.

People in the 10th District who are interested in information about foreclosure mitigation options are urged to call one of the congressman's three constituent service centers.

A week later, the House voted in favor of legislation that would defund National Public Radio. Marino voted for this bill.

Marino also voted for a second continuing resolution which brings the total amount of cuts in five weeks to $10 billion and funded the federal government through April 8.

Marino said the continuing resolution avoids a government shutdown and takes a "methodic, careful and sensible" approach toward creating a climate that will put an end to the uncertainty that is thwarting job creation.

"This is part of our overall program to create jobs, cut wasteful government spending and keep taxes low," Marino said. "If we do this step by step, we will get this done. We have only been in office for 2 1/2 months. It took us four decades to get to the $14.2 trillion deficit that is choking this economy."

Marino said Democrats want to see a shutdown so they could blame it on the new Congress.

Marino Applauds Courage of Witnesses

Rep. Peter King, Chairman of the House Committee on Homeland Security, held a March 10 hearing on the radicalization of Muslim. During the hearing, Rep. Marino questioned the witnesses at length.

Following the hearing, Marino issued this statement: "I applaud Chairman King for his courage and leadership in bringing this issue of terrorism to the forefront.

"I especially want to commend the Americans who testified today, in front of America and the world.

"Their willingness to address this issue brings to light the fact that this topic is not about religion but about terrorists who hide behind a veil of religion in their quest to inflict violence against innocent citizens in America and throughout the world.
